THREE clementines

Hello! I'm Valerie and I'm located in Idaho. I'm a wife and mom to three, including twins! I work full-time, mom all the time, DIY part-time, and blog everywhere in between. I love to work on projects around my home from refinishing furniture to building things from scratch! My dream would be to fix up homes and flip them for a living! But for now, I will have to settle for constantly changing my home (my husband loves that!). I'm a make-up hoarder, a want to be hippie (or so my husband calls me since I am obsessed with all things natural and organic), and on a constant search for the best gluten free desserts.

So, what is this Three Clementines business? My blog was born from my passion for DIY. I have always enjoyed sharing our projects on social media, so I decided to take it a step further and share with the world (or at least in my wildest dreams it's the whole world reading!). However, I choose not to limit myself to one topic so I lovingly call this a "Mom Lifestyle" blog. That means I can write about anything I want but it will probably include a lot about my kids. I enjoy reviewing products and if it's something I end up loving, then I'll add it to my Recommendations page where my readers can easily find it. I also love anything that makes parenting just a little bit easier because let's face it, being a Wife/Mom/Career Woman/DIYer/Blogger is a lot of work and most days, life is pretty crazy.

DEMOGRAPHICS

My audience is predominantly female. The top visiting countries are the United States, Canada, India, the United Kingdom and Australia. I acquire most of my visitors via promotion on social media platforms such as Pinterest, Facebook and Instagram.
